“The bachelor’s programme in Software Engineering provided a broad knowledge of various topics. From the first year to the last, we had examples that we could apply to real-world scenarios. When I graduated, I was able to apply all this knowledge to my work. In job interviews, people were really amazed by the projects I did during university. I am now working as a software engineer.”

SRH International College

Your pathway to SRH University

Why study with SRH University?

Attractive locations and flexibility

SRH International College is based both in Berlin and Heidelberg. You have the option to choose between the vibrant capital of Berlin or the famous student city of Heidelberg, located in southern Germany. You also have the flexibility to study your Bachelor's or Master's degree in nine other German cities, if your programme is available there.

An established study model

Teaching is delivered using the CORE method, which allows space for experimentation, games and critical thinking – without fear of making mistakes.

Accredited and globally recognised

All SRH Universities are state-accredited by the German Accreditation Council and internationally recognised.

Top things to do in Heidelberg

Cruise down the river

Soak up Heidelberg's charming atmosphere down the Neckar River and catch romantic views of Heidelberg Castle on board a restored, antique wooden sloop.

Attend a market or festival

Heidelberg hosts a variety of events throughout the year, including the Ball der Vampire in February, the spring-time 'Heidelberger Frühling' classical music festival, and the International Filmfestival 'Mannheim-Heidelberg' in November.

Top things to do in Berlin

Visit the East Side Gallery and Museum Island

Walk along the longest surviving remains of the Berlin Wall, now an open-air gallery featuring murals by artists from around the world. Discover the home of five world-renowned museums in Museum Island including Pergamon Museum and the Neues Museum.

Discover Berlin's creative and cultural scene

Explore street art in Kreuzberg or attend cultural festivals like Berlinale (Berlin Film Festival) and the Festival of Lights.

"I am taking mathematics, physics, and academic project courses. Those courses are conducted in two ways. First, we have a lecture in a big group, and then we have a seminar in a small group to discuss the topics we learned in the lecture. I think it is one of TPC's strengths because we can learn creativity and teamwork through communication between students and teachers."
