Rheinisches Studienkolleg Introduction

Rheinisches Studienkolleg is a private institute located in the capital of Germany, Berlin, and the former capital, Bonn.

The foundation-courses (M, T, W and G/S) comprise 10 months of lessons, online and on the campus, to prepare international students for the diverse subjects of the external examination: "Feststellungsprüfung".

All courses and subjects at Rheinisches Studienkolleg are taught by highly qualified teachers.

To assure a smooth transition to the different examinations and university applications, we offer two intakes:

- Summer semester (February)
- Winter semester (August)

Admission is open all year long for all branches enabling students to apply and enrol conveniently .

Entrance options

We know that finding the right way in Germany sometimes requires flexibility. We offer a broad variety of access points to make sure that your needs are being met.

These are our entrance options:

Early Access B1: You completed the B1 level successfully

Early Access B2: You completed the German level B2 successfully, but hold not recognised certificate yet

Regular Start: You hold a recognised German B2 certificate

Late Access: You hold a recognised German B2 certificate, but missed the Regular Start

M-Course

The M-Course is the foundation of university studies at public universities in the field of medicine, biology and pharmacy.

The subjects of M-Course strictly follow the external examinations by the relevant authorities (public universities and governmental bodies).

As these authorities differ from state to state, the subjects and examinations differ alike.

Accordingly, the subjects are:

- Biology
- Chemistry
- German
- Physics

T-Course

The T-Course will prepare students who specifically aim at studying mathematics, natural-scientific or technical degrees.

Hence the T-Course contains relevant subjects to successfully pass the external examinations of the states of Berlin and North Rhine-Westphalia.

Relevant subjects of the T-Course:

- Chemistry
- Computer-science (Only Berlin)
- German
- Mathematics
- Physics

W – COURSE

Enroling in business related study fields or social studies requires participation in the W-Course.

The selection of examination subjects is similar both in Berlin and North Rhine-Westphalia.

Subjects of W-Course are:

- Economics
- English
- German
- Mathematics
- Economic History (Only Berlin)
- Business (Only Berlin)

G / S – COURSE

The G/S-Course is intended for students who want to pursue studies in the fields of humanities, art sciences or social sciences in Germany.

Hence the G/S-Course contains relevant subjects to successfully pass the external examinations in the states of Berlin and North Rhine-Westphalia.

Subjects of G/S-Course are:

- German
- Social Studies
- History
- German Literature
- English (Only S-Course)

Application

The application must contain:

- High school diploma and transcript
- Certificate of German language level B2

All applications are screened as quickly as possible to allow a fast processing of admission.
